LINDA BOWDEN REGIONAL PRESIDENT PNC Bank, New Jersey

Linda Bowden is the New Jersey regional president of PNC Bank. Bowden is responsible for providing executive leadership and supporting client relationship and business development initiatives across the firm's lines of business in the region, including corporate and institutional banking, commercial banking, and wealth management, as well as supporting the firm's community-based activities.

Bowden adds extensive industry experience to PNC that spans every aspect of wealth management, having served as portfolio manager, trust and investment officer and as a manager overseeing private banking officers. In 2005, Bowden was named one of the "25 Women to Watch" by U.S. Banker magazine.

Prior to joining PNC in 2009, she was the managing director of Wachovia Wealth Management. Bowden began her career as a teacher for seven years in Wyckoff, N.J. and authored two children's math books.

Bowden is active in a range of community programs and currently volunteers her social work expertise to The Family Service League in Montclair, N.J. She also serves on the board of directors of the Adler Aphasia Center in Maywood, N.J., the Liberty Science Center board of trustees, the board of directors of Youth Consultation Services, the board of directors of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, the board of directors of Choose New Jersey, the board of trustees of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and the board of trustees of the William Paterson University Foundation. Bowden is also a past member of the alumni advisory board for Fairleigh Dickinson University. In 2011, she was named as a PINNACLE recipient, achieving the highest honor awarded to alumni.

Bowden earned an M.S.W. from Columbia University, an M.A. in institutional counseling from William Paterson University, an M.B.A. with a concentration in finance from Fairleigh Dickinson University and a B.A. in education from Rowan University. Additionally, Bowden completed the National Trust School at Northwestern University, earned her Certified Trust Financial Advisor designation and has completed numerous sales management and leadership programs.
